

ARTS SMARTS CAMPS FOR KIDS THIS SUMMER AT THE WARE CENTER
June 13-17 & June 20-24, 2022

LANCASTER, Pa. (May 13, 2022): Registration is now open for ARTS SMARTS Camps, offered through The Arts at Millersville University at the Ware Center, in downtown Lancaster. For two weeks starting June 13 and June 20, Arts at MU will present six unique camps per each week with both morning and afternoon sessions for young campers in Music, Theatre or Visual Arts. The Ware Center is located at 42 N. Prince Street, Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

These camps have been created especially for kids in two grade-level ranges: Kindergarten–Grade 2 and Grades 3-5. Each camp is different, and there are morning and afternoon options for both grade-level ranges and in all three disciplines - Music, Theatre, and/or Visual Arts. Campers can register for morning sessions from 9 A.M. – 12 P.M., afternoon sessions from 1 P.M. – 4 P.M., or both! (For those staying all day, there is a supervised lunch period. Lunches must be brought to camp and will be refrigerated.) On Fridays of both weeks, there are morning and afternoon performance showcases and art exhibits for families and friends featuring the campers' work of each week. ARTS SMARTS Camps are open to children of all abilities. Visit our website at ArtsMU.com, for full details of the camps and to register.

The staff is comprised of a team of professional teaching artists and Millersville University Arts Education students who have full clearance for working with children. Teaching artists are Jessica Burdett (music), Julia Jordan Kamanda (music), Dylan Kranch (theatre), Kellie Turner (theatre), Christina Virmani (visual arts), Heather Stief (visual arts), and Jenn Tarr (visual arts).
